Vietnam Amnesty Plan Sidetracked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pardon for former President Richard M. Nixon has brought President Ford mounting criticism and has sidetracked a Vietnam amnesty plan he was to have announced today.

Ford missed his own deadline for announcing terms of conditional amnesty for Vietnam-era deserters and draft evaders because he was focusing attention on Nixon's pardon, aides said.

Now, no time is set for Ford's amnesty decision affecting some 50,000 men.

The President wants more time to consider the complex questions, said Deputy Press Secretary John W. Hushen.

Several advocates of amnesty felt Ford's postponing his decision after the Nixon pardon might lead to a broader, less conditional program for the Vietnam group.

But, Hushen emphasized that Ford has not changed his view that, unlike the "full, free and absolute" pardon he gave Nixon, Vietnam offenders must be judged case-by-case, category-by-category.

Public reaction, meanwhile, was mounting in the first 48 hours after Ford's surprise pardon announcement on Sunday.

Prosecution Aide Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The third-ranking member of the Watergate prosecution force has resigned because of the pardon granted former President Richard M. Nixon.

"I would not have resigned today if my responsibility hadn't been lightened," 31-year-old Philip A. Lacovara said in an interview on Monday. "My responsibilities in the past included developing legal and policy arguments concerning the role of the President under the law and the role of the former President under the law."

"Sunday's action by President Ford disposes of the question."

Lacovara, counsel to Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, said he did not wish to go beyond that for fear that it might interfere with a fair trial for the Watergate cover-up defendants. "I'm not saying I'm leaving because of a disagreement," Lacovara said. "It's because my own responsibilities take on a different complexion."

Lacovara had a part in all investigations conducted by Jaworski's office and was in charge of appeals, arguing part of the government's Watergate tape case before the Supreme Court.

Unhappiness with President Ford's announcement that he was absolving the former President of guilt for any federal crimes he may have committed while in office was voiced by the foreman of the grand jury that named Nixon an indicted co-conspirator in the cover-up case.

Vladimir N. Pregelj said that "the due process of law should have taken its course," and added "if the grand jury has any options of its own, we may have to discuss them and see what could be done."

The President got a chorus of boos, amid applause, from a crowd of about 500 outside a Pittsburgh hotel where he made a speech Monday morning. There were chants of "no more cover up," and "prosecute Nixon," and demonstrators protesting the Nixon pardon held signs with such comments as: "The honeymoon is over," "Justice Died," and "Why not pardon all?"

The White House switchboard continued to be jammed with calls throughout Monday. The first 300 calls Sunday night ran 2 to 1 against Ford's decision, a White House spokesman reported.

By Monday night, however, the telephone sentiment had switched to 50-50, spokesman said.

But, there was overwhelming criticism in telegrams and mailgrams that Western Union estimated would total some 75,000 messages by Monday night. They were running 7 to 1 against Ford's pardon.

In Nixon's home state, the House of Delegates of the California Bar voted 347 to 169 in favor of a resolution which said Ford's action "violates the principle that all persons stand equal before the law and presents a substantial threat that the confidence of our citizens in the American system of justice will be undermined."

Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski said of pardon: "This is a matter that was decided upon by the President on his authority under the Constitution. It was something I didn't participate in."

But, one of his chief aides, Philip A. Lacovara, submitted his resignation because he said Ford's pardon of Nixon "disposes of the question" of the former President's legal status.

Lacovara was the second resignation stemming from the pardon.

Ford's press secretary, Jerald F. terHorst, who quit on Sunday as a matter of conscience and credibility, went back to work on Monday for the Detroit News, where he will now be a national columnist.

Utilities Face Crunch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Consumers of electricity—hopeful that the energy crisis has subsided and they can return to preshortage consumption—must now battle inflation. Money-pinched Ohio utilities are delaying construction of generating units which would have produced additional kilowatts.

Because of high construction costs, inflation, sluggish sales and delays in obtaining rate increases from the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, five major state power companies are stalling plans to build new facilities up to two years.

And the delay could create energy supply problems later, officials fear. The treasurer of Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. said based on current projections and estimates, the firm is hopeful it can meet future energy demands. But he added, "You can't store electricity, so you have to be able to meet the demand when the customer flips the switch."

Carmen's Destruction Raises Price Of Sugar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sugar cane losses inflicted by Hurricane Carmen may further increase record-high consumer sugar prices, government experts say.

The Department of Agriculture has launched a special survey of crop damage in Louisiana, which bore the brunt of the storm. Initial loss estimates ranged up to 75 per cent of the crop.

Don Paarlberg, the department's director of economics, said the storm losses could produce a substantial further impact on sugar prices, depending on the extent of the damage. Sugar prices already have soared this year because production has not kept pace with world demand.

A five-pound bag of sugar that cost American shoppers 85 cents last January costs around $2 today.

Although the Louisiana and Florida cane-growing area had been expected to produce less than 1.8 million tons of the 12.5 million tons of raw sugar needed by U.S. refineries this year, an expected decline in sugar production from beet sources magnifies the importance of the cane-growing region hit by the hurricane.

Last month the department estimated sugar cane production for the year would increase four per cent while, at the same time, beet production was expected to drop eight per cent.

Thus, the Louisiana losses would reduce the expected rise in cane production, causing prices to rise further and providing the opponents of sugar import quotas with further arguments to suspend the restrictions.

The possibility of quota suspension was raised several weeks ago by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, and the Louisiana storm may speed a decision on whether to open the U.S. door to more foreign sugar.

New York Race Highlights Primaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — A close contest over the Democratic nomination for governor in New York attracted the greatest national attention among primary elections in 13 states and District of Columbia today.

Candidates sought their party's designation to run for eight U.S. Senate seats and nine other governorships. But with most big name candidates either unopposed for renomination or facing token opposition, there was little excitement over the largest schedule of elections in any one day so far during this mid-term election year.

Residents of the nation's capital were nominating a mayor for the first time in more than a century with Democratic nomination considered as good as election.

Elections also were being held in Arizona, Connecticut, Colorado, Florida, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont and Wisconsin.

In New York, U.S. Rep. Hugh L. Carey, from Brooklyn, and Howard J. Samuels, the man who set up New York City's legalized operation for betting on horse races away from the track, sought the Democratic nomination for governor. The winner of this close race is regarded as having the best chance of winning the governorship of any Democrat in the 16 years since Nelson A. Rockefeller first won the office.

The Republican opponent in the Nov. 5 general election is likely to be incumbent Malcolm Wilson, who is expected to win the GOP nomination for his first campaign for the office. He was elevated from the lieutenant governorship when Rockefeller resigned last December.

All five incumbent senators seeking new terms are favored to win. They are Democrats Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin and Republicans Peter H. Dominick of Colorado, Charles McC. Mathias Jr., of Maryland, Jacob K. Javits of New York and Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona.

Senate primaries also pick nominees for the seats of retiring Sens. Norris Cotton, R-N. H., George D. Aiken, R-Vt., and Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla.

Other incumbent governors seeking renomination and expected to win it include Democrats Reubin Askew of Florida, Marvin Mandel of Maryland, Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin, Wendell P. Anderson of Minnesota and Thomas P. Salmon of Vermont, and Republicans Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts, John Vanderhoof of Colorado and Meldrim Thomson Jr. of New Hampshire.

In Arizona, Gov. John R. Williams, a Republican, is retiring, and the frontrunners for the GOP nomination for his job are former Phoenix Mayor John Driggs and former State Corporation Commissioner Russell Williams. Heading a four-man Democratic field is Raul Castro, former U.S. ambassador to Bolivia who lost a close race to Williams in 1970.

Nixon May Still Face Prosecution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leading Supreme Court case on presidential pardons suggests that Richard M. Nixon, although pardoned by President Ford, could still be tried and even convicted in the Watergate case but could never be punished.

Both the Constitution and the court decisions on the subject acknowledge a President's broad powers of pardon in all cases except impeachment but treat the punishment and not the trial and conviction.

An 1867 Supreme Court decision, written by Justice Stephen J. Field, is the guiding law on the scope and effect of a presidential pardon and recognizes a President's right to grant one either before or after conviction. The case was titled Ex Parte Garland.

In discussing a pardon before conviction and the situation which would arise after conviction, Field clearly raised the possibility of trying someone who could not be punished.

Field wrote, "If granted before conviction, it prevents any of the penalties and disabilities consequent upon conviction from attaching (thereto)."

The decision spoke only of the penalties and not the trial, and nothing in this or other court rulings appears to bar the judicial process leading up to the point of punishment.

There are no known cases, however, of a person having been pardoned and then tried anyway. Prosecution traditionally has been dismissed at that point as moot.

Also, the principle that a pardon spares only the punishment and not the side effects of the judicial process is found in a 1914 Supreme Court decision upholding the conviction of a New York man as a second offender.

Although a presidential pardon had prevented any punishment for the first offense, the court said the conviction and its legal implications were not wiped out by the pardon.

A penalty-free trial would appear to be one of the last avenues for publicly resolving the question of whether Nixon had committed any illegal actions.

Impeachment also remains a legitimate route to that end even now, but past Congresses had been averse to using it once the official involved has left office. And House Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., has said he will not reopen the Nixon impeachment case.

City School Audit Findings Reported

The audit of the Circleville City School District by the state auditor's staff resulted in "findings" for recovery of $946.52.

The audit is on file at the office of superintendent of school's Fritz Jacobs and with the city's legal representatives, William Stevenson and William Duckworth of Canal Winchester.

Jacobs said that previous audits by the state under a different auditor had not been critical of procedures in which the present examiner was making findings.

The administration had not been informed when the state administration changed that these rules changes were in effect.

The largest figure was in the amount of $700. It involved funds earned by the Circleville DECA students at Pumpkin Show and the Pickaway County Fair with their booth. The money was deposited in a separate account rather than in the school activity fund.

The examiner said the amount represented four expenditures for two meetings, a Christmas party and supplies, for which no documentation was available. Jacobs said this account was administered without the knowledge of board of education.

The amount was paid back to the high school activity fund April 26, 1974.

A finding in the amount of $120 involved the payment of the school's membership in 1970, 1971 and 1972 to the Ohio and National Associations of Secondary School Principals. The OASSP had informed school principals throughout the state that this was a school membership and not a private membership. However, the examiner ruled it was a private membership and should be paid by the principal. The amount was paid back May 9, 1974 to the school activity fund.

Lunchroom milk overclaims of $52.92 and an excessive mileage reimbursement of $4.42 accounted for $57.34. The lunchroom overclaim resulted from the inadvertent use of a wrong monthly bill.

The examiner was further critical of numerous expenditures totaling $4,012.65 which were made without following prescribed procedures. Of the amount, $2,591.07 represented travel reimbursements to 24 district employees from school to school without itemized statements.

Jacobs said it was the practice for many years to reimburse those teachers who must travel from school to school on a flat rate basis. Teachers are now required to fill out the proper itemized mileage statements, Jacobs stated.

Saxbe Calls For Tough Crime Fight

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Government must perform, not promise, if inroads are to be made on crime's advance, a growth so great the nation may be near losing all safety, Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe said today.

Saxbe also said the nation "must reject any hint or suggestion of repressive measures." It must "reject any effort to centralize in Washington the quest to control crime."

And more convicts must be kept in prison full term in the absence of a careful judgment it would be safe to release them, he added.

Saxbe's comments came in remarks prepared for a morning address to the Ohio Realtors' Association.

Crime's rise is of such proportion that "the number of victims grows to levels that most would have thought impossible a decade or two ago" and the chances of becoming a victim grow with it, Saxbe said.

Besides last year's six per cent increase in crime, which followed a year in which crime fell by four per cent, "crime rose 16 per cent during the last quarter of 1973 and 15 per cent during the first quarter of 1974," Saxbe said.

If present trends continue, America faces what Saxbe described as the shudder-evoking prospect of having no longer "any place to hide, no safe zones-not for anybody."

"In fact, we may be near that point already," Saxbe added.

"Government at all levels simply must do more, must become more effective," he said. "And the federal government itself has hardly turned in an award-winning performance in its efforts to help states and localities combat crime."

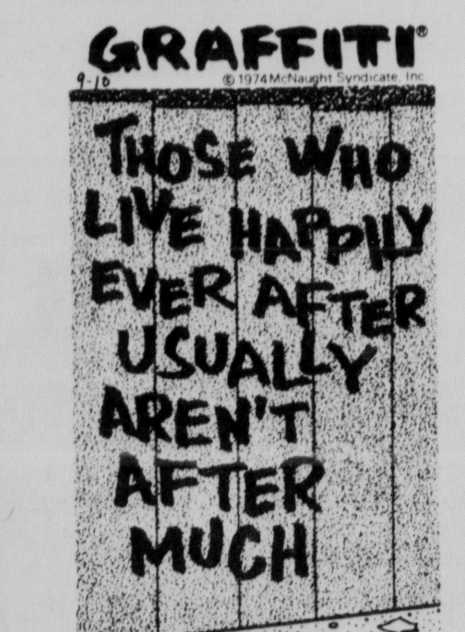

"The odds against the criminal have to be increased," he said. "Where prevention fails, the offender must know that he faces the certain prospect of swift apprehension and prompt justice."

"Too many persons today are released who should be kept in custody," Saxbe said. "Too many persons are released when reasonable men would judge them to be dangerous to society."

John Emery said if electric energy consumption goes up, utilities could have problems meeting future demands because of current building cutbacks.

C&SOE received a 19 per cent rate increase from PUCO a week ago, and the next day announced cutbacks of $224 million in building funds from a $755 million expansion program projected through 1978. The firm serves 26 central and southern Ohio counties.

Five utilities in the Central Area Power Coordination Group serving northern and central Ohio and western Pennsylvania, say they intend to slash about $700 million from the group's joint construction plans for 1975-1979.

Central Area Power members—including Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., Toledo Edison Co., Ohio Edison Co., Duquesne Light Co., and the Pennsylvania Power Co.—said the cutback will push back plans for another generating unit in Pennsylvania and delay for one to two years seven other generating units.

Emery pointed out that the slash in building funds won't have any immediate effect on energy supplies. He explained the plants being delayed by his firm wouldn't go into operation until 1977. But, he said after that, the situation may change.

A Toledo Edison spokesman said his firm reluctantly trimmed its building budget from $133 million to $118 million. He said officials are worried about depleting future energy reserves.

Cincinnati Gas & Electric has delayed by two years the completion of a second nuclear power plant unit at Moscow, Ohio. Officials forecast cuts above the original $55 million reduction.

The inflation crunch has created another problem for utilities. CEI, Dayton Power and Light, Cincinnati Gas and Toledo Edison all have rate increase requests pending. Officials blame economic woes for all of the requests.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were slightly lower today as the market settled into a listless, drifting pattern.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had a moderate lead over losers held a moderate lead over gainers in quiet trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the market appeared to be pausing for breath after a couple of weeks of sharp swings that had the effect of largely canceling themselves out.

Magnavox was the Big Board volume leader, up 1/4 at 9 3/4, in trading that included a 221,600-share block at that price. The stock is the object of a $9-a-share tender offer by North American Philips.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was off .25 at 66.68.

Golds, which fell sharply Monday, were broadly lower again in active turnover.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .08 at 36.38.

Pickaway Farm Bureau Adopts 1975 Policy

Pickaway County Farm Bureau adopted its policy for 1975 at the annual meeting held at Community United Methodist Church.

On the local government level, the Farm Bureau members called for increased salaries for law enforcement officers to attract and retain qualified personnel; enforcement by trustees and commissioners of present laws pertaining to the mowing of noxious weeds; continuing efforts to motivate the county engineer and commissioners toward the urgently needed county-wide house numbering.

On the state level, the local membership called for: a review of the present farm license tag law; the adoption of a law requiring training and licensing of all grain inspectors; state responsibility for actions of guardsmen while on active duty under order by the state; the Farm Bureau to show leadership and set an example in fertilizer, chemical and petroleum pricing.

Nationally it reaffirmed its strong opposition to export limitations on farm commodities and the holding of large grain and food reserves by the government. It tempered this last resolution with the provision that some limited reserves for disaster purposes should be held by private individuals and firms in cooperation with other food exporting nations.

Dean Simeral, director of state affairs of the Farm Bureau, was the speaker.

He touched on the illegal use of farm tags on pickup trucks, the history and present status of the "Green Space" amendment to the Ohio Constitution, Environmental Protection Agency regulations as they apply to farmers, workmen's compensation laws, school foundation formula and land use legislation.

Trustees elected for a one-year term at Monday's meeting were: John H. Dunlap III of Monroe Twp.; Don M. Martin, Muhlenberg Twp.; Harry M. Ross, Saltcreek Twp.; for a three year term, Stephen R. Ohnewehr, Darby Twp.; Edwin Taylor, Perry Twp.; Glenn Waple, Wayne Twp.

Vonalee Ward was elected the representative of Women's District I which includes Harrison, Madison Scioto and Walnut Twp.

Delegates for the 1975 Ohio Farm Bureau Federation meeting are Dorwin Hay and Edwin Taylor.

The invocation was presented by the Rev. David F. Frazer. Dale Bower, president, served as master of ceremonies for the meeting. Edwin Taylor read the minutes of the 1973 annual meeting and Mrs. William Richards presented the financial report. The resolutions of policy were presented by Robert Black and the presentation of candidates for trustees and delegates was by Ernest (Bud) Enoch.

Richard Burch, Tri County organizational director, gave his report.

A roast beef dinner was prepared and served by the members of the Sarah Circle of the Community United Methodist Church.

Cigarette, Cigar Butts Grow Short

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Steamtrain Maury, retired king of the hoboes, says President Ford doesn't need economic advisors to report on inflation.

All he needs is to ask a hobo.

"Hoboes can tell about inflation by the length of cigarette and cigar butts," Steamtrain said. "The longer they are, the better times are."

"And right now, the butts are awful short. People are smoking 'em clear down to the end."

Steamtrain, or sometimes referred to as Maury Graham, 60, returned to his Toledo home a few days ago after a year on the road as America's Hobo King.

He ran for the office on a pledge to visit veterans hospitals around the country. By the time he retired, Steamtrain said he visited more than 34,000 veterans in more than half the 50 states.

Retirement means he is looking for work in his trade as a cement mason so he can pay back $4,000 to $5,000 he borrowed to roam the country.

"The wife didn't like me taking off, even though she lent me some money for the trip," he said. "She wants me to settle down for good."

Are those his plans?

"Maybe you'd better not say," he responded. "She'd only get mad."

More Pardons Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today authorized a spokesman to announce that the question of pardons for all those connected with the Watergate scandals "is now under study."

Acting Press Secretary John W. Hushen startled reporters with the unexpected disclosure and said, "I can give you no further guidance."

Hushen made it clear possible pardons were being considered for those already convicted of Watergate-related crimes as well as those who may face trial in the future.

White House Counsel Philip Buchen had told reporters Sunday no thought had been given to such a question.

Ted Kennedy Splattered By Tomato

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he hopes the emotion shown by antibusing demonstrators, which left him splattered by a thrown tomato, will dissipate before Boston schools open Thursday.

But the Massachusetts Democrat expressed doubt it would — "There are still voices in the community stirring up hatred among the races."

Kennedy made the comments on Monday after he was booed and made the target of two ripe tomatoes as he tried to address a crowd of some 8,000 to 10,000 demonstrators in front of the John F. Kennedy Federal Building.

One of the tomatoes landed near Kennedy and part of the fruit splattered on him. Kennedy was also hit on the shoulder by at least one of several women who leaped in front of him as he left the gathering and shook their fists at him.

The demonstrators were protesting a school integration plan ordered by U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity which calls for the busing of 18,200 Boston school children, 8,500 white and 9,700 black.

Kennedy said he was unable to address the crowd because the plug to the microphone had been pulled. He said he was disappointed, but added, "People feel very strongly about this. They're entitled to their views."

Repairs Slow I-270 Traffic

Motorists using the Columbus Outerbelt (I-270) between Route 23 and I-71 on the south side of Columbus are advised to use utmost caution in the area during the next two to three weeks.

The Ohio Department of Transportation has announced that repair work to the decks of two bridges in that section of I-270 will begin Wednesday morning. Work will start in the west bound lanes on the Outerbelt, with one lane being repaired and the other lane open to traffic. Traffic will be maintained at all times during the patching, waterproofing, and resurfacing of the present concrete bridge decks.

The $115,773 bridge deck repair project was awarded by the Ohio Department of Transportation to M.F. Velotta and Sons, Inc., of Solon, Ohio.

While one lane of traffic will be maintained during the repair work, motorists normally using the section of I-270 south of Columbus between I-71 and US-23 are urged by Transportation Officials to use extreme caution while traveling through the construction area.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were slightly lower today as the market settled into a listless, drifting pattern.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off .71 at 662.23, and losers held a moderate lead over gainers in quiet trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the market appeared to be pausing for breath after a couple of weeks of sharp swings that had the effect of largely canceling themselves out.

Magnavox was the Big Board volume leader, up 1/4 at 9 3/4, in trading that included a 221,600-share block at that price. The stock is the object of a $9-a-share tender offer by North American Philips.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was off .25 at 66.68.

Golds, which fell sharply Monday, were broadly lower again in active turnover.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .06 at 36.38.

Ted Kennedy Splattered By Tomato

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he hopes the emotion shown by antibusing demonstrators, which left him splattered by a thrown tomato, will dissipate before Boston schools open Thursday.

But the Massachusetts Democrat expressed doubt it would — "There are still voices in the community stirring up hatred among the races."

Kennedy made the comments on Monday after he was booed and made the target of two ripe tomatoes as he tried to address a crowd of some 8,000 to 10,000 demonstrators in front of the John F. Kennedy Federal Building.

One of the tomatoes landed near Kennedy and part of the fruit splattered on him. Kennedy was also hit on the shoulder by at least one of several women who leaped in front of him as he left the gathering and shook their fists at him.

The demonstrators were protesting a school integration plan ordered by U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity which calls for the busing of 18,200 Boston school children, 8,500 white and 9,700 black.

Kennedy said he was unable to address the crowd because the plug to the microphone had been pulled. He said he was disappointed, but added, "People feel very strongly about this. They're entitled to their views."

Coroner Rules Death Suicide

Mr. Floyd L. Reid, 74, Route 1, Laurelville, died Monday evening of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to his head according to Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll.

Raymond Affolter, Route 1, Lockbourne, notified Deputy Huffman thieves entered his mobile home, sometime between 12 a.m. and 12 p.m. Saturday, taking medicine.

The medicine was valued at $27.10. The front door was jimmied to gain entry.

According to Huffman, the thieves used a tire tool to pry open a front window.

An estimated $242 worth of household goods, jewelry and money was taken from the home.

Repairs Slow I-270 Traffic

Motorists using the Columbus Outerbelt (I-270) between Route 23 and I-71 on the south side of Columbus are advised to use utmost caution in the area during the next two to three weeks.

The Ohio Department of Transportation has announced that repair work to the decks of two bridges in that section of I-270 will begin Wednesday morning. Work will start in the west bound lanes on the Outerbelt, with one lane being repaired and the other lane open to traffic. Traffic will be maintained at all times during the patching, waterproofing, and resurfacing of the present concrete bridge decks.

The $115,773 bridge deck repair project was awarded by the Ohio Department of Transportation to M.F. Velotta and Sons, Inc., of Solon, Ohio.

While one lane of traffic will be maintained during the repair work, motorists normally using the section of I-270 south of Columbus between I-71 and US-23 are urged by Transportation Officials to use extreme caution while traveling through the construction area.

More About Schnozz

DEAR ABBY: I have been saddened and amused by the number of letters in your column from people who were upset by the size of their noses. The mother who couldn't love her baby because of its big schnozz hit me hard.

To, me, a prominent nose is beautiful. Look at Cleopatra. A little button-nose may be "cute," but give me the beauty and character of a nose that is proud and prominent!

We are all entitled to our own standards of beauty. Why should we let Madison Avenue stereotypes lead us around by the nose?

KNOWS NOSES

DEAR NOSES: We shouldn't. Which inspires the following limerick:

There once was a beauty named Rose, A Puritan life-style she chose. Lechers gale she would show to the door, Would you say she was saved by her NO'S?

(Edgar Allen Po-Po)

DEAR ABBY: I would like to say something about that young mother who was depressed because she thought her infant daughter was too homely to take out in public.

I'm glad you sent that mother to a psychiatrist because she is in desperately in need of treatment. If she doesn't take your advice and go I'm afraid her daughter will be the one to end up on a psychiatrist's couch, getting treated for her inferiority complex.

That is what happened to me. When I was a little girl, my mother drummed into my head that I was homely. I grew up believing it. I let myself get fat and sloppy. I never cared how I looked because I thought I was too hopelessly ugly, nobody could care for me. My self-esteem was about as low as it could get.

At age 17, I had had three abortions, so my mother sent me to a psychiatrist. Meanwhile, she sobbed, "I'll never understand that child. I gave her everything."

My psychiatrist explained that small children believe everything their parents tell them and that my problems began when my mother convinced me that I was homely.

"TWENTY TWO AND NOT HOMELY ANYMORE"

DEAR ABBY: That disturbed young mother who couldn't love her baby because it had such a homely nose prompts me to write this.

I recently visited a young (and very handsome) couple who have a nine-month-old baby. No one warned me, so I wasn't prepared for what I saw when they brought her out.

She was positively the homeliest baby I had ever seen. Unusually homely!

I was lost for what to say, so I just said, "Hi, darling baby!" She smiled, her eyes twinkled and her homely little face lit up as she held out her arms to welcome me as a new friend.

Within minutes I knew the secret of that baby's charm. Her parents treated her as though she were an exquisitely beautiful and beloved treasure by letting her know what a loved baby she was. Consequently, she is exactly what they told her to be—a beautiful treasure.

Within minutes one forgets that she is not a very pretty baby, because it doesn't matter. Her personality is sunny, lovable and responsive.

Parents of "homely" babies can learn a lot from this couple. I did.

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: And I'll wager so many others.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the mother who was so "depressed" because her baby had such a large nose.

Our first baby was a beautiful little girl. There was only one problem. She was born with "spina bifida"—an open spine.

Our baby is only four months old and she has had, to date, surgery five times.

Abby, instead of this mother looking at her baby and crying because of her large nose, she should be crying for joy and thanking God for having blessed her with a healthy baby. She doesn't know how lucky she is.

Computerized Cow Outlook Tried

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — H. M. Keener hopes to turn a computer into a crystal ball—giving Ohio farmers instant glimpses into the future of their cattle.

How much will my steer gain in weight if I give him this food?

How much milk will my cows give on that food?

What effect will come from housing my animals another way?

These are the kind of questions Keener, an agricultural engineer at Wooster's Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, wants his computer to be smart enough to answer.

It may be five years before Ohio farmers get widespread, effective use of such a computer, but Keener already has done some testing.

Keener began researching his idea about three years ago and developed the computer program out of a dissertation for a doctorate in agricultural engineering at Ohio State University.

Growth predictions ran within about 5 per cent of the actual growth achieved by test cows in 150 to 200 days.

Milk production results, he said, were reasonable, but he was unable to confirm them.

CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SAFETY LEGAL NOTICE

Sealed proposals will be received by the Director of Public Safety of the City of Circleville, Ohio, at his office at City Hall, 123 South Court Street, Circleville, Ohio 43113, for the following until 12:00 o'clock noon, Eastern Daylight Savings Time, Sept. 17, 1974, as authorized in Ordinance No. 82-74, for the purchase of an air compressor.

The item to be bid is a high pressure breathing air compressor and other accessories needed in fire fighting service. Specifications may be obtained at the office of the Fire Chief, 147 East Franklin Street, Circleville, Ohio 43113.

Each proposal shall be submitted in a sealed envelope according to the instructions supplied. Each proposal shall also be accompanied by the bid bond given in favor of the City of Circleville, Ohio, for an amount of $100.00. The bid bond shall be either a bond issued by a surety company authorized to do business in the State of Ohio or a certified check on any solvent bank made payable to the order of the Director of Public Safety of the City of Circleville, Ohio. If the bidder fails or refuses to enter into a contract within ten (10) days after notice of acceptance of his proposal, the bidder shall forfeit to the City of Circleville his bid bond.

The bid bond of unsuccessful bidders shall be canceled and returned. The bid bond of the successful bidder shall be retained pending the proper delivery of the specified air compressor.

The Director of Public Safety reserves the right to reject any and all bids, waive any informality in the same, or to accept any bid or combination of bids based on lowest and best bid or bids.

Edward Ebert
Director of Public Safety
August 27, September 3, 10, 1974

"The problem with this kind of research is you're always up against the wall in terms of having enough information," Keener said. "In many cases I didn't collect enough data for valid simulation work."

"The eventual goal is to make the program general enough to apply it to different animals, just plugging in different data. Collection of sufficient data and validation are the major holdups."

"The program is an ongoing kind of thing. I will continue to collect data, attempt to validate it and update the computer model."

Keener said the program is designed to monitor changes in animals as they grow while current programs concentrate primarily on yield of milk and meat. His program also incorporates both milk and meat production based on a given set of circumstances while most plans now in use stick to one or another.

Once the computer program gets to the exact level Keener seeks, he said, costs to the farmer would amount to no more than computer time.

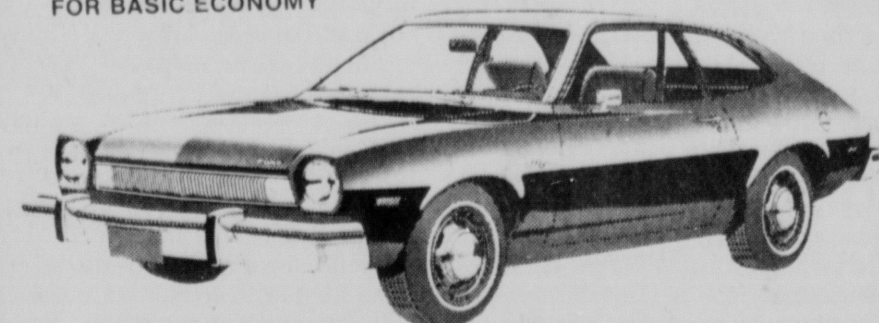

"A farmer might want to test several plans for readying cattle for market and the cost would be about $15 a run," he said.

Keener hopes the computer can pinpoint areas where additional research is needed as well as indicating which programs warrant further testing.

"We still have quite a ways to go," Keener said.

Moving A State Capital

Alaska will have a new capital to go along with the oil pipeline, though the capital will probably take longer. Voters in a referendum have decided to abandon Juneau as the capital city.

No site for the new capital has been decided upon, but Anchorage is generally conceded to be the probable choice. Anchorage is Alaska's largest city and is more centrally located than Juneau.

Geographic considerations are what are doing Juneau in as the 49th state's capital. It is located in the extreme south and is hemmed in by mountains. There is no highway connection and access is limited to boat and plane.

Relocating the capital will be costly, but Alaska is rich from oil leases. Moving the capital north is expected to be a blow to the economy of the southern tip of Alaska and may result in Juneau becoming virtually a ghost town.

Now that Alaska has taken the lead, will there be efforts in some other states to relocate capitals to more central locations? Some of them are ludicrously placed geographically. Florida is one state which comes readily to mind.

It's A Crime

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — FBI Director Clarence Kelley's 282-page report on crime in the U.S. for 1973 is so painstakingly neat that a reader has to shake himself now and then to realize that what the man is saying is that his agents, and the forces of law and order in general, are abysmally losing the second Civil War.

Its text and charts would be more appropriate for a Department of Agriculture tract on the Des Moines hog market, or an HEW study on the pollen count. The shocking thing about the FBI report is that there is not one scream of outrage in it, no damnation of indifferent or corrupt judges, no reference to the blunt fact that the proudest nation in the world is going to hell in a bucket of blood.

"The law enforcement effort is limited to factors within its control," one asinine non-sequitur reads. But the charts! They are beautiful!

For example, a page devoted to "Crime Clocks." It shows nine clocks whose single hands are at different points on the face. They are so meticulously drawn that one tends to overlook the captions which read:

Serious Crimes, 16 each minute. Violent Crimes (murder, forcible rape, robbery or assault to kill), one every 36 seconds. Murder, one every 27 minutes. Forcible rape, one every 10 minutes. Aggravated assault, one every 76 seconds. Robbery, one every 82 seconds. Burglary, one every 12 seconds. Larceny-theft, one every seven seconds. Auto theft, one every 34 seconds.

There are lots and lots of agate type breakdowns of these basic "Crime Clocks" figures, most of them featuring blizzards of decimal points that must have leaked out of the expensive computers. But decimal shesimal, did you know there were 626 crimes "known to the police" committed in Berks County, Pennsylvania, last year as opposed to 4,361 in Clackamas County, Oregon?

Some other indications that as the economy goes down, down, down the crime rates keep going up, up, up:

There were 8,638,400 crimes in America last year, 869,500 of them violent, 4,116 offenses for each 100,000 inhabitants. Female crime was up four per cent. A billion dollars worth of cars were stolen. Despite on-foot cops and prowl cars, street robbery was up 35 per cent since 1968; residence robbery up 64 per cent over the same period; chain store robbery up 167 per cent; daytime burglaries of residence up 56 per cent. Property valued at more than $2,500,000,000 was stolen in the course of 382,680 robberies, 2,540,900 burglaries, 4,304,000 larcenies and 923,600 auto thefts.

"Those dollar losses were reduced by 37 per cent due to police recoveries," the FBI book says with a note of pride.

Seventy-one per cent of the weapons used by mugs to kill law enforcement officers were handguns — mostly

The FBI is concentrating, however, on at least one American, though he has no known criminal background. About 400 G-men are looking into the past and present of Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller. There's a shady character for you! Can he account for his whereabouts over the past 30 years, except such obvious "covers" as director of the Rockefeller Center, Inc., co-ordinator Inter-Am affairs, Asst. Secretary of State for American Republics affairs,

NEW YORK (AP) — By inviting 21 of their brethren to a White House conference last week, the Ford administration has helped greatly to thrust economists into the role of high priests.

That ascension has been going on for two decades, and probably more, but it is still recent enough for many people to remember when economists were neither seen nor heard, buried as they were in books and statistics.

Their coming out was neither inevitable nor foreseeable. Events, it seems, drew them into the arenas of public controversy, and a gradually acquired taste for politics and government now keeps many of them there.

Prof. Walter Heller did much to publicize the influence of economists. When he joined the John F. Kennedy administration as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, he faced an economy marked by poor performance and great potential.

The resulting tax cut proposed by Heller received much credit for the subsequent boom of the 1960s, a boom that was silenced only by an attempt to fight a war without raising taxes. The economists shouted it wouldn't work, and it didn't.

Ever since the late 1960s the nation has been riddled with inflation, and economists have been on almost constant call.

While they acquired a considerable

Where did he get his dough, aside from the flimsy alibi that his grandfather was a crotchety old billionaire named John D. Rockefeller? How much is he worth? How's his credit? Did he get any help attaining his Phi Beta Kappa key at Dartmouth — like Teddy Kennedy got help at Harvard? How does he stand on the pollen count? Etc.

taste for politics during this time they didn't receive the power.

John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard professor and writer, was sent abroad by President Kennedy even though his inclinations were to remain in Washington as an economic adviser.

George P. Shultz and Herbert Stein were the most prominent economic advisers in the latter years of the Nixon administration, but their decisions were often overridden, especially in regard to the Aug. 15, 1971, price freeze.

During this time, business also elevated economists into more prominent roles, partly because economists now were making good spokesmen.

Academic economists acquired enormous popular followings too. Paul Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, wrote a text that has been used by so many students that his popularity is assured.

Others, while remaining in academia, rode forth from time to time as advisers to political candidates. Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago has been influential in Republican politics for years.

Friedman, Samuelson and others, while avoiding direct involvement in government positions, have encouraged a popular following by writing columns or articles for magazines and newspapers — as well as scholarly journals.

Occasionally you can now detect a reaction setting in against the prominence of the high priests, especially since the country and the world is, by common agreement, in an economic mess.

Businessmen, for example, have sometimes lamented that the country was being sent down the road to ruin by the bankers or labor or some other group. Now they include economists.

"What kind of name is that for a retirement village?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

It seems as if so many young people I know complain that they have a "slipped disc" in the back. Is this a new-fangled term for the old-fashioned "lumbago?"

Mrs. H.E.C., R.I.

Dear Mrs. C.: It is true that "slipped disc" is referred to rather casually by many people who fancy they have the condition.

Fortunately for those who think they have, this complex condition does not exist as frequently as they suppose.

There are 33 bones, or vertebrae, that run from the top of the neck to the tail bone, or coccyx. Between each of the vertebra there is a solid, but elastic, tissue known as a "disc." These act as protective shock absorbers that cushion pressure or injury to the spine.

The discs also protect bony edges from rubbing against each other during the many complex rotational movements of the body.

Occasionally, as a result of injury, disease or a bony deformity, a disc may protrude (or "slip") and cause severe pain. The pain may be at the site of the slipped disc or may radiate to a distant part of the body.

When the condition is suspected by the physician, complex X-ray studies known as myelograms can pinpoint the exact area of the slipped disc.

Because of compression of the nerves leading from the spine, neurological examination is always combined with orthopedic (bone) consultation.

Not all of these herniated (ruptured) discs need surgery. Sometimes, with bed rest and traction, the intense pain can be minimized. There are also a number of new methods being tried for the non-surgical treatment of slipped discs.

Low back pain can be caused by many disorders. Sacroiliac disturbances, sciatica and lumbago are a few. The "old-fashioned lumbago" refers to a constant, dull pain which almost always is due to some muscular disturbance in the lower back.

Because there are so many variations of low back pain it is not wise to have active massage of the lower back before the exact diagnosis is established. Very often massage and manipulation are undoubtedly valuable. However, within the framework of their value lies the possible danger that certain undiagnosed conditions may be aggravated and complicated by too vigorous manipulation.

30-And-Out Plan Brings Few Takers

DETROIT (AP) — Thousands of auto workers are not using the industry's unique 30-and-out retirement plan because they do not think they can afford to retire on a fixed income, says one of the plan's architects.

Doug Fraser, a UAW vice president who helped get the plan into the contract negotiated with Chrysler Corp. last fall, cited figures showing that only about 1,300 of the 33,000 auto workers eligible for full pension benefits have taken advantage of it so far. He says, however, that many workers may wait to retire until Oct. 1 when benefits increase.

Mexican Army Frees Kidnaped Man

MEXICO CITY, Mexico (AP) — The Mexican army has freed Sen. Ruben Figueroa and four aides held captive for 3½ months by Lucio Cabanas, Mexico's No. 1 guerrilla. But Cabanas eluded the troops, Defense Minister Hermenegildo Cuenca Diaz announced.

Figueroa's rescue Sunday after a gun battle was the second success within 24 hours for President Luis Echeverria's nocompromise policy for political kidnappings. Echeverria's 83-year-old father-in-law was freed Saturday night by another terrorist organization that held him for 10 days.

The defense ministry said some of the huge force that has been searching for Figueroa and Cabanas found the 66-year-old senator in the village of El Quemado, inland from Acapulco in the mountains of Guerrero state and 310 miles south of Mexico City.

Cuenca Diaz said a number of the guerrillas were killed or wounded, two of their captives were wounded, many arrests were made and a large amount of arms was captured. But Cabanas "either escaped or he was not there."

The troops "are pursuing the remainder of the bandits, and it is expected that they will be totally annihilated in a short time," the minister said.

It was the army's first major success against Cabanas in the eight years since the schoolteacher took to the Sierra Madre de Atoyac in southwest Mexico and put together a band of 35 or 40 armed men.

The 30-and-out plan, which the union considered a major breakthrough in the last contract negotiations, allows a worker to retire after 30 years' service with Chrysler, General Motors or Ford with full pension. In the past, workers could retire after 30 years, but not with full benefits if they were under 65.

Top benefits will increase from $550 to $625 dollars a month on Oct. 1. Most auto workers make more than $260 a week before taxes, with the average assembler pulling in about $240.

Fraser says of the low number of retirements: "With living costs continuing to rise, they feel they just can't afford to retire on a fixed income. They know they would be wiped out."

A GM spokesman says that in the past 11 months, 804 hourly workers used 30-and-out to retire. At Ford, a spokesman said 350 workers retired under the plan. Chrysler figures were not available, but a spokesman said they were expected to number about 150.

UAW officials say, however, they feel it's been important to establish the principle of early retirement.

Fraser said that many eligible workers may be waiting an extra few years to get higher benefits (they rise to $700 a month by 1978), and the company-paid dental program which begins next month.

Accord Reached On New Building

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — "Essential agreement" has been reached for construction of a $22 million Regency-Hyatt House Hotel for downtown Cincinnati, but final agreement is not expected before March.

Fred Lazarus III, chairman of the Greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce Research and Development Committee, said more time is needed to pin down the exact cost of the project. Rising Money and construction costs are a second factor, he said.

The chamber committee has been negotiating the project between local investors and the Hyatt Corp. of Chicago.

An architectural firm for the remodeling of the Pickaway County Jail, Prindle and Patrick, Inc., made its recommendation to county commissioners that they accept the apparent low bid of Roanoke Iron and Bridge for the detention contract and the apparent low bid of Divine Construction for the combined general, electrical, and plumbing contracts. Plans were to make the second floor of the jail a maximum security detention area.

Applications for the Navy's annual regular NROTC qualification test were available to male high school seniors and graduates at Circleville High School.

Among the rookies to make the grade with the Cincinnati Bengals were Greg Cook, Bill Bergey, Speedy Thomas, Clem Turner, Guy Dennis, Royce Berry, and Ken Riley.

Teachers and buses were the primary topics of discussion at the Circleville School Board meeting. Resignations of two teachers were accepted, three more teachers were hired, and the board considered installing citizen band radios on each bus.

It was reported on Dec. 7, 1968, that a book on febrile diseases checked out in 1823 from the University of Cincinnati Medical Library was returned by the borrower's great-grandson. The fine was calculated as $22,646, but waived.

LAFF - A - DAY

"What kind of name is that for a retirement village?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

It seems as if so many young people I know complain that they have a "slipped disc" in the back. Is this a new-fangled term for the old-fashioned "lumbago?"

Mrs. H.E.C., R.I.

Dear Mrs. C.:

It is true that "slipped disc" is referred to rather casually by many people who fancy they have the condition.

Fortunately for those who think they have, this complex condition does not exist as frequently as they suppose.

There are 33 bones, or vertebrae, that run from the top of the neck to the tail bone, or coccyx. Between each of the vertebra there is a solid, but elastic, tissue known as a "disc." These act as protective shock absorbers that cushion pressure or injury to the spine.

The discs also protect bony edges from rubbing against each other during the many complex rotational movements of the body.

Occasionally, as a result of injury, disease or a bony deformity, a disc may protrude (or "slip") and cause severe pain. The pain may be at the site of the slipped disc or may radiate to a distant part of the body.

When the condition is suspected by the physician, complex X-ray studies known as myelograms can pinpoint the exact area of the slipped disc.

Because of compression of the nerves leading from the spine, neurological examination is always combined with orthopedic (bone) consultation.

Not all of these herniated (ruptured) discs need surgery. Sometimes, with bed rest and traction, the intense pain can be minimized. There are also a number of new methods being tried for the non-surgical treatment of slipped discs.

Low back pain can be caused by many disorders. Sacroiliac disturbances, sciatica and lumbago are a few. The "old-fashioned lumbago" refers to a constant, dull pain which almost always is due to some muscular disturbance in the lower back.

Because there are so many variations of low back pain it is not wise to have active massage of the lower back before the exact diagnosis is established. Very often massage and manipulation are undoubtedly valuable. However, within the framework of their value lies the possible danger that certain undiagnosed conditions may be aggravated and complicated by too vigorous manipulation.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... The handicapped are never a "handicap" or burden to employers who are wise enough to give them the opportunity to work.

30-And-Out Plan Brings Few Takers

DETROIT (AP) — Thousands of auto workers are not using the industry's unique 30-and-out retirement plan because they do not think they can afford to retire on a fixed income, says one of the plan's architects.

Doug Fraser, a UAW vice president who helped get the plan into the contract negotiated with Chrysler Corp. last fall, cited figures showing that only about 1,300 of the 33,000 auto workers eligible for full pension benefits have taken advantage of it so far. He says, however, that many workers may wait to retire until Oct. 1 when benefits increase.

Mexican Army Frees Kidnaped Man

MEXICO CITY, Mexico (AP) — The Mexican army has freed Sen. Ruben Figueroa and four aides held captive for 3½ months by Lucio Cabanas, Mexico's No. 1 guerrilla. But Cabanas eluded the troops, Defense Minister Hermenegildo Cuenca Diaz announced.

Figueroa's rescue Sunday after a gun battle was the second success within 24 hours for President Luis Echeverria's no-compromise policy for political kidnappings. Echeverria's 83-year-old father-in-law was freed Saturday night by another terrorist organization that held him for 10 days.

The defense ministry said some of the huge force that has been searching for Figueroa and Cabanas found the 66-year-old senator in the village of El Quemado, inland from Acapulco in the mountains of Guerrero state and 310 miles south of Mexico City.

Cuenca Diaz said a number of the guerrillas were killed or wounded, two of their captives were wounded, many arrests were made and a large amount of arms was captured. But Cabanas "either escaped or he was not there."

The troops "are pursuing the remainder of the bandits, and it is expected that they will be totally annihilated in a short time," the minister said.

It was the army's first major success against Cabanas in the eight years since the schoolteacher took to the Sierra Madre de Atoyac in southwest Mexico and put together a band of 35 or 40 armed men.

The 30-and-out plan, which the union considered a major breakthrough in the last contract negotiations, allows a worker to retire after 30 years' service with Chrysler, General Motors or Ford with full pension. In the past, workers could retire after 30 years, but not with full benefits if they were under 65.

Top benefits will increase from $550 to $625 dollars a month on Oct. 1. Most auto workers make more than $260 a week before taxes, with the average assembler pulling in about $240.

Fraser says of the low number of retirements: "With living costs continuing to rise, they feel they just can't afford to retire on a fixed income. They know they would be wiped out."

A GM spokesman says that in the past 11 months, 804 hourly workers used 30-and-out to retire. At Ford, a spokesman said 350 workers retired under the plan. Chrysler figures were not available, but a spokesman said they were expected to number about 150.

UAW officials say, however, they feel it's been important to establish the principle of early retirement.

Fraser said that many eligible workers may be waiting an extra few years to get higher benefits (they rise to $700 a month by 1978), and the company-paid dental program which begins next month.

Accord Reached On New Building

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — "Essential agreement" has been reached for construction of a $22 million Regency-Hyatt House Hotel for downtown Cincinnati, but final agreement is not expected before March.

Fred Lazarus III, chairman of the Greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce Research and Development Committee, said more time is needed to pin down the exact cost of the project. Rising money and construction costs are a second factor, he said.

The chamber committee has been negotiating the project between local investors and the Hyatt Corp. of Chicago.

MASON, Ohio (AP) — Police said John Jones, 27, of Mason, was killed Monday when his car struck a backing freight train two miles north of here on Ohio 741.

United Telephone Wins Rate Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The more than 542,000 customers of United Telephone Co. in Ohio, many reportedly more satisfied with the service than they used to be, will be notified soon that their monthly bills are going up.

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Monday granted the company a rate hike to increase annual revenues by $17.2 million.

Based on company figures, the commission said telephone rates in the larger cities served by United, such as Mansfield, Warren and Lima, will increase by $2.80 a month for single-party service, $1.20 for multi-party and $7 for businesses.

In the smaller communities, such as Lake Milton and Bluffton, increases will amount to $2 for single-party, $1.10 for multiparty and $4.40 for businesses.

The commission said the increases will provide the company with a rate of return of 7.82 per cent compared with the previous 4.92 per cent. United had sought between 9.8 and 10.8 per cent.

United received approval on Aug. 1, 1973, to temporarily increase rates to

Bookkeeping By Lottery Staff Rapped

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Ohio Lottery's bookkeeping problems are no different than those any new organization would experience, a lottery spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman was responding to Ohio Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's statement that the lottery commission has bookkeeping problems due mainly to its location in Cleveland and a lack of employees that have a knowledge of state procedures.

Ferguson also complained that the commission's notes were little more than "rough notes ... unsigned, unapproved and therefore of doubtful legal value."

"We were working with Kelly girls," said the exasperated lottery spokesman. "We didn't even have a staff of our own."

But he added that meeting notes would be approved at the following meeting from now on.

Other criticisms by the auditor:

Only four of five commission members had bonds on file with the secretary of state. But the report noted the Department of Administrative Services was in process of obtaining blanket coverage of commission employees.

Some vouchers did not contain proper documentation of expenses.

The lottery spokesman said the commission staff was learning from experience and was working closely with the liaison man in the auditor's office.

The audit, covering from Nov. 21, 1973, to June 30, 1974, showed the commission had spent $71,723 of its $2 million state advance. The auditor noted that the books balanced.

Chrysler Plant Hit By Walkout

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — The Chrysler production plant here, which makes vinyl products used in autos, was struck Monday by 200 members of the Chrysler Employees Association who have been working without a contract since June 1.

The strikers are demanding higher wages and a cost of living clause in a new, three-year contract.

produce an additional $3.9 million annually as emergency relief. The commission said the last time the company received authority for a permanent hike was in September 1970.

United originally filed its increase request with the commission on Dec. 13, 1972. Public hearings were held for nine days beginning May 14, 1974.

The commission, in its order, noted the problems United has faced as a result of mergers and expansion since it came into being in 1965 through merger of the Mansfield Telephone Co. and the Ohio Telephone Service Co. Since then, eight other telephone companies have merged with United.

The commission also praised United for its "dramatic improvement in the quality of service rendered and its responsiveness to its customers' service problems."

It noted the volume of customer complaints had declined from 6.5 per 10,000 subscribers in the first quarter of 1973 to slightly more than two per 10,000 in the first three months of 1974.

Muskie Has No Objection To Lotteries

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— U.S. Sen. Edmund G. Muskie, D—Maine, said Monday he has no moral objections to lotteries but questions their use as a way to raise money for states.

Muskie spoke to reporters at an impromptu news conference here after addressing the Urban League's conference on regionalism.

The conference was set up by State Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D—24 Parma, who guided the Ohio lottery through the General Assembly.

"It is incongruous states should be subject to incredible penalties because of state lotteries," the Maine Democrat said.

U.S. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe has put officials of Ohio, Maine and 11 other states on notice that they will have to get congress to change federal laws restricting lotteries or the justice department will be forced to prosecute.

Muskie said he favors legislation allowing lotteries to operate but that that does not mean he encourages the games.

Mottl said he had not had time to tell Muskie in advance about the subject of the news conference.

Once back in his suite, Muskie was heard to inquire what the news conference was about.

When told, Muskie's initial reaction was, "I'd rather not comment until I have a chance to study it."

Wyandotte Building Saved By Protests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Public objections have caused the state Department of Administrative Services to reverse its decision to demolish the 76-year-old Wyandotte Building in downtown Columbus.

The building, which is listed in the National Register of Historic Landmarks, was vacated and scheduled for destruction after the state fire marshal ruled it a fire hazard.

Now the structure will be rehabilitated while retaining its historic exterior. It will again house state offices, officials said.

Mozambique Truce Set

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Portuguese government today announced a 48-hour truce with rebellious white settlers occupying key buildings in Lourenco Marques, the capital of Mozambique.

An announcement in Lisbon said "the situation has developed favorably in the past few hours," hinting that a compromise settlement was under consideration. Two envoys from Lisbon met with leaders of the rebel movement Monday and flew back Monday night to report to the government at home.

The rebels took over the radio station, the airport and other installations in Lourenco Marques on Saturday in an attempt to keep guerrilla leader Samora Machel and his followers from taking power in the southeast African colony.

Machel vowed that the rebellious settlers would be "quickly neutralized and annihilated" by his forces and the Portuguese army.

Fall YMCA Classes Designed For Children

MUSIC READINESS—Mrs. Danny Fouts, on the left, and Mrs. Gary Dean will be instructors for the fall class at Pickaway County YMCA to teach pre-school children the basics of music.

Another innovation in fall classes being planned by the Pickaway County Family YMCA this year will be a Music Readiness program designed with pre-schoolers in mind. Instructors will be Mrs. Gary Dean and Mrs. Dannie Fouts.

The program is designed to lead children to discover the basic concepts of music, which can later be applied to any instrument. It will help him learn to control his singing voice and develop muscular coordination.

The purpose is to lead children to make friends with music through singing, listening to good music, rhythmic activity and learning basic music terminology.

For four year olds, the half-hour class will follow the regular Y Pal class on Wednesday and Fridays, 10:30-11 a.m. and for the three year olds, a half hour session each week will follow the regular class on Thursdays, 11-11:30 a.m., for eight weeks.

Classes are to start the first week of October.

Dr. Sprouse read several passages of scripture, each naming flowers of that time. Among them are lilies, scarlet anemone, water gladioli, rose of Sharon, narcissus, tulips, lilies of the valley, hyacinth, crocus, mustard plant, star thistle, oleander, flags, thickets, roses, star of Bethlehem, figs, pomegranate, burning bush, red beard, poppy, lotus flower and dandelion. USDA Abandons Farming Indicator

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A popular economic indicator used for more than a quarter of a century to tell how efficient American farmers are has been quietly abandoned by the Agriculture Department.

The statistic involves the number of people one U.S. farmer can supply with food, fiber and other agricultural raw materials. For example, in 1972 — the final year calculated — one farm worker supplied enough for himself and 51.4 others.

Light rain was falling in southwestern Ohio Tuesday morning, with showers likely to continue in other areas during the day and over the entire state tonight.

Temperatures were on the mild side across Ohio Monday night, readings mostly in the 60s under cloudy skies along with patches of fog. At Youngstown in northeastern Ohio, however, clear skies allowed the temperature to drop to 54 degrees for the coolest spot.

On the weather map, high pressure continues along the Atlantic coastal states, while low pressure is located in the plains from Texas to the Dakotas. This pattern gives a light southerly flow of tropical air into Ohio, so that temperatures are expected to be above normal Wednesday and Thursday.

Temperatures tonight are forecast no lower than the 60s.

State Board Sets Vo-Ed Program Aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education pledged its all-out assistance Monday to school districts that have failed to meet state requirements for vocational education programs.

Board President John Meckstroth of Cincinnati said board members and Ohio Education Department officials

Man Injured When Struck From Behind

A man was injured during the morning traffic on Route 23 Monday when he was struck from behind by another vehicle. Robert Johnson, 50, Lockbourne, was taken to Berger Hospital by the Harrison Township Emergency Squad for treatment of his injuries after the 7:44 a.m. crash.

According to the report made by State Highway Patrolman R. G. Lewis, Johnson was northbound on Route 23 one mile south of the Route 762 junction when he was struck from behind by a truck driven by Hildreth H. Maddox Jr., 38, Franklin Furnace.

After the impact from behind, the Johnson vehicle ran off the right side of the roadway, rolled over and came to rest on its wheels.

Johnson underwent several x-rays and had stitches put in a laceration on his right index finger at Berger Hospital. He also suffered multiple contusions, abrasions and minor lacerations as a result of the accident.

Ptl. Lewis cited Maddox for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

will hold a series of five meetings with school districts throughout the state.

Meckstroth said the meetings will be held to help districts pass bond issues or levies to provide money for vocational facilities or buy their way into a joint vocational school district.

The action came after Stoner, president of the Mercer-Auglaize Joint Vocational District, which comprises 11 local districts, told the board that the districts cannot meet the state requirement for full job training programs.

Under state statutes, districts were either to set up their own job training program or to join a joint vocational district by Sept. 1, 1974.

Districts have often found it more economical if several of them combine in one vocational unit.

Stoner said the problem with the Mercer-Auglaize joint district is that voters in the 11 individual districts have voted down bond issue questions five times.

Meetings will be held for regions encompassed by these counties: Crawford, Hancock, Hardin, Putnam, Seneca and Wyandot; Auglaize, Darke and Mercer; Columbiana and Trumbull; Coshocton and Fairfield; and Adams.

"Our concern is to offer every possible assistance to school districts which have not been able to make suitable plans," said Meckstroth.

In other action, the board set new standards making the state subsidy for bus purchases more directly related to the available tax revenue in school districts.

The board also voted to return part of the Forest Hills Local School District in Hamilton County to Cincinnati public schools.

The move, requested by officials of both districts, reversed a four-year-old decision changing the Four Mile Road area from Cincinnati to Forest Hills.

On the weather map, high pressure continues along the Atlantic coastal states, while low pressure is located in the plains from Texas to the Dakotas. This pattern gives a light southerly flow of tropical air into Ohio, so that temperatures are expected to be above normal Wednesday and Thursday.

Temperatures tonight are forecast no lower than the 60s.

State Board Sets Vo-Ed Program Aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education pledged its all-out assistance Monday to school districts that have failed to meet state requirements for vocational education programs.

Board President John Meckstroth of Cincinnati said board members and Ohio Education Department officials

Man Injured When Struck From Behind

A man was injured during the morning traffic on Route 23 Monday when he was struck from behind by another vehicle. Robert Johnson, 50, Lockbourne, was taken to Berger Hospital by the Harrison Township Emergency Squad for treatment of his injuries after the 7:44 a.m. crash.

According to the report made by State Highway Patrolman R. G. Lewis, Johnson was northbound on Route 23 one mile south of the Route 762 junction when he was struck from behind by a truck driven by Hildreth H. Maddox Jr., 38, Franklin Furnace.

After the impact from behind, the Johnson vehicle ran off the right side of the roadway, rolled over and came to rest on its wheels.

Johnson underwent several x-rays and had stitches put in a laceration on his right index finger at Berger Hospital. He also suffered multiple contusions, abrasions and minor lacerations as a result of the accident.

Pt. Lewis cited Maddox for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

Given Position
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Burnell R. Roberts, 47, of Dayton, a Mead Corp. executive, was appointed by Gov. John Gilligan Monday to a nine-year term on the Central State University Board of Trustees, succeeding Lloyd E. Lewis, whose term expired.

will hold a series of five meetings with school districts throughout the state.

Meckstroth said the meetings will be held to help districts pass bond issues or levies to provide money for vocational facilities or buy their way into a joint vocational school district.

The action came after Stoner, president of the Mercer-Auglaize Joint Vocational District, which comprises 11 local districts, told the board that the districts cannot meet the state requirement for full job training programs.

Under state statutes, districts were either to set up their own job training program or to join a joint vocational district by Sept. 1, 1974.

Districts have often found it more economical if several of them combine in one vocational unit.

Stoner said the problem with the Mercer-Auglaize joint district is that voters in the 11 individual districts have voted down bond issue questions five times.

will be announced shortly, Meckstroth said.

Meetings will be held for regions encompassed by these counties: Crawford, Hancock, Hardin, Putnam, Seneca and Wyandot; Auglaize, Darke and Mercer; Columbiana and Trumbull; Coshocton and Fairfield; and Adams.

"Our concern is to offer every possible assistance to school districts which have not been able to make suitable plans," said Meckstroth.

In other action, the board set new standards making the state subsidy for bus purchases more directly related to the available tax revenue in school districts.

The board also voted to return part of the Forest Hills Local School District in Hamilton County to Cincinnati public schools.

The move, requested by officials of both districts, reversed a four-year-old decision changing the Four Mile Road area from Cincinnati to Forest Hills.

Norman, Reds Top Padres

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Fred Norman says he's kind of sorry to leave his new-found home in the Cincinnati bullpen.

Norman pitched himself back into the Reds' starting rotation Monday night when he limited the San Diego Padres to four hits in nearly six innings and helped Cincinnati gain an 8-3 victory.

"I was just getting myself mentally used to being a relief pitcher," said Norman who has been used out of the bullpen since mid-August. "It's a whole different philosophy from starting."

"When you are in the bullpen you know that you might be pitching every day, so you have to get yourself up for every game."

"When you're starting you don't have to do that."

Norman's reassignment to the starting rotation came just in time for a possible chance to face the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers in a crucial three-game rematch.

Three of the hits Norman gave up against his former teammates came in the third inning when Enzo Hernandez singled with two out. Rich Morales and Dave Grubb then followed with back-to-back homers to account for all the Padres scoring.

Norman was sailing along in the sixth when he was hit by a line driver off the bat of Randy Elliot. The ball hit Norman on the thigh and he was replaced by Pedro Borbon who did not allow a hit the rest of the way.

Manager Sparky Anderson said he did not believe the injury would prevent Norman from facing the Dodgers this weekend.

"As far as I'm concerned, Norman's back in the starting rotation," Anderson said.

Anderson was worried before the game about his team rebounding from last weekend's series with Los Angeles.

"I was afraid we might be down after the Dodger series," said Anderson. "We needed something like their third inning homers to wake us up."

"But I kind of hate to get awakened like that."

Cincinnati scored four times in the fifth when Tony Perez hit his 24th homer of the year and Dave Concepcion stroked his 11th home run of the baseball season.

While the Reds were beating San Diego, Los Angeles was trouncing Atlanta 8-1, but Anderson said last weekend's series, when the Dodgers won two-of-three games has ended scoreboard watching.

"There's no need to watch the scoreboard anymore," said Anderson. "If we don't win 15 more games, it won't matter what the Dodgers do the rest of the year."

Geoff Zahn, a 27-year-old rookie with the Los Angeles Dodgers, pitched a four-hitter for the first complete game of his major league career, stopping the Atlanta Braves 8-1.

The victories left the Dodgers 3½ games ahead of the Reds in the National League West race.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago beat Pittsburgh 9-4, Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 2-0, San Francisco topped Houston 8-6 and New York defeated Montreal 7-1.

Cubs 9, Pirates 4
Jose Cardenal and Andre Thornton blasted homers for the Cubs, and Dave LaRoche came on in the eighth inning to preserve the victory for Steve Stone, 7-5. When LaRoche was summoned, the Cubs were nursing a 6-4 lead and Pittsburgh had the bases loaded.

Phil's 2, Cards 0

The Cards failed to take advantage of Pittsburgh's loss and remained 2½ games behind the Pirates in the NL East by losing to Philadelphia 2-0 as Jim Lonborg fired a two-hitter.

Lou Brock failed in his effort to record his 104th stolen base of the season and tie the alltime record held by Maury Wills.

Giants 8, Astros 6

The Giants broke a 3-3 tie with five runs in the eighth inning. Tito Fuentes drove in the tie-breaking run with a single, Gary Matthews belted a two-run double and Dave Kingman closed out the surge with a two-run triple.

Mets 7, Expos 1

Ray Sadecki scattered eight hits and contributed a run-scoring single to a four-run fourth inning for the Mets. Dave Schneck had a two-run single in the fourth and Bud Harrelson drove in the final run of the inning with a single.

Circleville Golfers Rip Wilmington

Circleville High School golfers won their first match of the fall season Monday with a 167-173 league victory over Wilmington at Snow Hill Country Club.

Jeff Spires paced the win with a 39 aided by four pars and a birdie. Jeff Bohenko carded a 41, Jim England had a 43 that included four pars, and Mark McFadden and Keith Sanders had 44s.

Sanders, a newcomer to the squad, carded two birdies on his round.

S. Kline paced Wilmington with a 41. Barrett had a 43, Borton shot 44, Nelson had a 45, and Baldwin had a 46.

Circleville is scheduled to play each SCOL school this fall in home and home matches. A league playoff is scheduled Sept. 30 at Snow Hill Country Club.

Today, the Tigers will visit Columbus Country Club and the Bexley High School golfers. On Wednesday, they travel to Chillicothe VA golf course for a match with Unioto.

Norman, Reds Top Padres

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Fred Norman says he's kind of sorry to leave his new-found home in the Cincinnati bullpen.

Norman pitched himself back into the Reds' starting rotation Monday night when he limited the San Diego Padres to four hits in nearly six innings and helped Cincinnati gain an 8-3 victory.

"I was just getting myself mentally used to being a relief pitcher," said Norman who has been used out of the bullpen since mid-August. "It's a whole different philosophy from starting."

"When you are in the bullpen you know that you might be pitching every day, so you have to get yourself up for every game."

"When you're starting you don't have to do that."

Norman's reassignment to the starting rotation came just in time for a possible chance to face the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers in a crucial three-game rematch.

Three of the hits Norman gave up against his former teammates came in the third inning when Enzo Hernandez singled with two out. Rich Morales and Dave Grubb then followed with back-to-back homers to account for all the Padres scoring.

Norman was sailing along in the sixth when he was hit by a line driver off the bat of Randy Elliot. The ball hit Norman on the thigh and he was replaced by Pedro Borbon who did not allow a hit the rest of the way.

Manager Sparky Anderson said he did not believe the injury would prevent Norman from facing the Dodgers this weekend.

"As far as I'm concerned, Norman's back in the starting rotation," Anderson said.

Anderson was worried before the game about his team rebounding from last weekend's series with Los Angeles.

"I was afraid we might be down after the Dodger series," said Anderson. "We needed something like their third inning homers to wake us up."

"But I kind of hate to get awakened like that."

Cincinnati scored four times in the fifth when Tony Perez hit his 24th homer of the year and Dave Concepcion stroked his 11th home run of the baseball season.

While the Reds were beating San Diego, Los Angeles was trouncing Atlanta 8-1, but Anderson said last weekend's series, when the Dodgers won two-of-three games has ended scoreboard watching.

"There's no need to watch the scoreboard anymore," said Anderson. "If we don't win 15 more games, it won't matter what the Dodgers do the rest of the year."

Geoff Zahn, a 27-year-old rookie with the Los Angeles Dodgers, pitched a four-hitter for the first complete game of his major league career, stopping the Atlanta Braves 8-1.

The victories left the Dodgers 3½ games ahead of the Reds in the National League West race.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago beat Pittsburgh 9-4, Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 2-0, San Francisco topped Houston 8-6 and New York defeated Montreal 7-1.

Cubs 9, Pirates 4

Jose Cardenal and Andre Thornton blasted homers for the Cubs, and Dave LaRoche came on in the eighth inning to preserve the victory for Steve Stone, 7-5. When LaRoche was summoned, the Cubs were nursing a 6-4 lead and Pittsburgh had the bases loaded.

Phillies 2, Cards 0

The Cards failed to take advantage of Pittsburgh's loss and remained 2½ games behind the Pirates in the NL East by losing to Philadelphia 2-0 as Jim Lonborg fired a two-hitter.

Lou Brock failed in his effort to record his 104th stolen base of the season and tie the alltime record held by Maury Wills.

Giants 8, Astros 6

The Giants broke a 3-3 tie with five runs in the eighth inning. Tito Fuentes drove in the tie-breaking run with a single, Gary Matthews belted a two-run double and Dave Kingman closed out the surge with a two-run triple.

Mets 7, Expos 1

Ray Sadecki scattered eight hits and contributed a run-scoring single to a four-run fourth inning for the Mets. Dave Schneck had a two-run single in the fourth and Bud Harrelson drove in the final run of the inning with a single.

Tribe Wins 7-1 Contest With Tigers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland's Dick Bosman may have gotten over his seventh inning bugaboos Monday night, but he may also have awakened a rather dormant Detroit Tiger team.

Bosman, 6-3, pitched a threehitter as the Indians downed the Tigers 7-1. It was only his second complete game of the season. His first was a no-hitter against the Oakland A's June 19.

"For some reason or other I was having trouble getting past the seventh or eighth inning," Bosman said.

"That's been the old bugaboo for me."

In the seventh inning Monday he threw at Tiger Al Kaline, because he thought Detroit's pitcher, Vern Ruhl, purposely hit Oscar Gamble with a pitch the previous inning.

After admitting he threw at Kaline, Ruhl backtracked a bit, saying, "Let's say I threw it tight. I just wanted to let them know that I was protecting my players."

Tiger Manager Ralph Houk was thrown out of the game by plate umpire Bill Kunkel for arguing about the brush-back pitch.

"I think it was the stupidest thing the Indians could have done," Houk said.

"My pitcher is making his first major league appearance, we're losing by seven runs, we're out of the race. There is no reason why we should be throwing at batters in this stage of the game."

"This incident might fire us up and give us a little boost to go out and beat the Indians tomorrow (Tuesday) night," Houk said. "They're in the race and they should know to let a sleeping dog lie, or else he might wake up and bite you."

Pat Matson Sees Trade Coming Soon

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Eight-year veteran guard Pat Matson, player representative during the players strike, said he expects to be traded shortly.

"I just have a feeling they're trying to trade me," said Matson, who has been used sparingly in preseason games since the veterans returned.

"We have several irons in the fire, several teams have called us about certain people," was all that Coach and General Manager Paul Brown would say. He declined to name any players Monday who face cuts or trades.

Four players were believed slated for waivers today.

They include rookie defensive backs Rudy McClinton, Billy Bryant, defensive tackle Richard Bishop and defensive end Lee Thomas.

Miami Dolphins Again Power In AFC East

It will be no surprise if the American Football Conference race is decided early this season. The AFC presents: the Miami Dolphins ... followed by everyone else.

All five coaches are optimistic for improvement in 1974. One, Miami's Don Shula, would be hard-pressed to find an area to improve. The others, Usually a tough town for the Yankees, Boston was a nice place to visit Monday night as New York beat the Red Sox 6-3 and took a one-game lead in the American League East pennant race.

"I knew we'd win a game here some day," said New York Manager Bill Virdon after the Yankees snapped an 11-game losing streak at Fenway Park.

The victory was the Yankees' first in Boston since July 31, 1973 and only their second there in 22 appearances since the 1972 season.

The Baltimore Orioles also won at a crucial moment, beating the Milwaukee Brewers 6-5 in 11 innings Monday night. The victory boosted the Orioles into a second-place tie with Boston in the hot East race.

In the other American League games, the Oakland A's took a doubleheader from the Kansas City Royals, 3-0 and 7-0; the California Angels beat the Texas Rangers 4-1 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second 5-3; the Cleveland Indians downed the Detroit Tigers 7-1 and the Minnesota Twins defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

Chris Chambliss and Elliott Maddox each drove in two runs, helping New York beat Boston.

George "Doc" Medich, 18-12, was the winning pitcher with eighth-inning relief help from Sparky Lyle. Medich gave up two runs in the inning, one on a

Fighting Irish Top Georgia Tech, 31-7

ATLANTA (AP) — Ara Parseghian called it "a test for us to see how much damage was done through all our losses."

His Notre Dame team, reeling from the loss of eight potential starters, survived the test Monday night with a 31-7 nationally televised football victory over Georgia Tech, but lost two more front line players in the process.

Running back Art Best was sidelined with a broken jaw and linebacker Sherman Smith left with torn ligaments in his left knee as problems continued to mount for the defending national collegiate champions.

Despite it all, Parseghian said, "I think we're going to be a pretty solid team. We'll get better as the season progresses."

The Irish, ranked No. 3 in The Associated Press preseason poll, were forced into a comeback role when Tech methodically marched 68 yards to score after the opening kickoff.

Notre Dame cashed in a fumble recovery at the 14 for the tying touchdown, went ahead on freshman Dave Reeve's 22-yard field goal and established control with a goal line stand that closed the door on Tech's last chance to regain the lead.

Tom Clements, a brilliant quarterback, then picked apart Tech's secondary with six pass completions for 83 yards in a drive that produced a touchdown in the final minute of the half for a 17-7 Irish lead.

Notre Dame spoiled the coaching debut of Pepper Rodgers, who left UCLA last year to return to Tech, where he once played quarterback. Rodgers had said earlier that Tech Buffalo's Lou Saban, New York rookie Charley Winner, Baltimore's Howard Schnellenberger and New England's Chuck Fairbanks, don't have to look far for problems.

The Dolphins have amassed 26 victories in 28 regular-season games over the last two years and have lost only one game to an AFC competitor during that time. Their schedule should help keep Miami near that homer by Carl Yastrzemski, before Lyle came to the rescue.

Orioles 6, Brewers 5
Bobby Grich singled with two out in the 11th inning and eventually scored the winning run on a wild pitch by Tom Murphy, giving the Orioles their victory over Milwaukee.

The Brewers tied the score at 5-5 on Darrell Porter's grand slam home run in the ninth inning off Reynolds.

A's 3-7, Royals 0-4
Vida Blue hurled a two-hitter and Catfish Hunter a four-hitter, pitching Oakland to a sweep of their two-night doubleheader against Kansas City. The sweep moved the A's 6½ games ahead of Texas in the American League West.

Blue, 15-14, struck out five and walked only one, while Hunter posted his sixth consecutive victory and raised his record to 23-10.

Angels 4-3, Rangers 1-5
Chuck Dobson, stopped Texas on seven hits in pitching California's first-game victory. Roy Howell's first major league home run triggered a three-run Texas rally in the fourth inning and the Rangers went on to beat California in the second game.

Indians 7, Tigers 1
Oscar Gamble's first-inning, two-run homer triggered a three-run rally and Dick Bosman pitched a three-hitter to lead Cleveland over Detroit.

Twins 3, White Sox 1 record this year, as the teams the Dolphins play had a combined record of 87-106-2 last season.

But Miami doesn't need a boost from the schedule maker. The Dolphins have all the talent necessary for another easy AFC East title.

The others, less fortunate and facing difficult agendas in 1974, will have their hands full. Buffalo shows promise of an offense that won't depend on O.J. Simpson as heavily as last year, but the Jets, Colts and Patriots are rebuilding and must be considered pretenders — at best — to the Dolphins' National Football League throne.

Miami Dolphins
No, the Dolphins have not yet made their hotel reservations for Super Bowl IX. But for sheer depth, ability and poise, the Dolphins remain the team of the decade.

Coach Shula will worry when the time comes about the losses to the World Football League of runner Larry Csonka and receiver Paul Warfield. The duo, responsible for 16 touchdowns and 1,617 yards between them, still are the major offensive threats for Miami's 1974 entry.

They aren't the only threats, though. Quarterback Bob Griese can run when necessary and threw last year for 1,422 yards by completing 116 of his 218 passes. When Warfield was drawing double and triple coverage, Marlin Briscoe and tight end Jim Mandich were easy targets.

Csonka anchored the rushing game with 1,003 yards, marking his third consecutive 1,000-plus season, while Mercury Morris — held out of the last regular season game due to an injury — compiled 954.

Add to the attack one of the game's strongest offensive lines — Dolphin quarterbacks were sacked only 13 times for 93 yards in losses and intercepted just 12 times — a topnotch defensive line, linebacking corps and defensive secondary; what do you get?

You get Miami's fourth consecutive division title. That's what.

Buffalo Bills
The Bills could come into their own this season. The defense jelled at the end of last year; and since Orenthal James Simpson scored the winning points in only two of Buffalo's nine victories, there obviously were others making contributions on offense.

Quarterback Joe Ferguson will be more than "the man who gives the ball to O.J." He'll attempt to balance the attack which depended so heavily on a certain rusher last season.

He has good receivers in J.D. Hill, Bob Chandler and Ahmad Rashad, and talented running backs Jim Braxton and Larry Watkins. The offensive line, which "turned The Juice loose" last season will return with the goal of improving Ferguson's pass protection.

Buffalo's pass rush had a creditable 32 quarterback sacks and the secondary picked off 14 passes. Should those numbers improve and the offense become more of a unit, the Bills might make things interesting.

Still, a lot will depend on Ferguson's success as a passer. Should Buffalo's air game fizzle, opposing defenses can stack against the run.

New York Jets
There are a lot of "ifs," about the New York Jets this year. If quarterback Joe Namath can stay healthy, if the pass rush improves, if the special teams can provide better field position ...

That isn't a lot to go on, but the "iffy" pass rush may well improve with the play of first-round draft choice Carl Barzilauskas — a 6-foot-6, 265-pound defensive tackle from Boston College.

Namath's brittle body will be helped by the addition of 6-foot-5, 265-pound offensive tackle Gordie Browne, New York's second draft selection, who will start the season behind Robert Woods but will beef up the pass protection when needed. Veteran Winston Hill will be the other tackle, Wayne Mulligan will center with John Schmitt having been traded to Green Bay, while Randy Rasmussen and Gary Puetz will be the guards assigned to protect Namath.

With time to pass, Namath and backup Al Woodall have talented targets in Jerome Barkum, Ed Bell, and David Knight. The backfield will be Emerson Boozer — last year's team rushing leader with 831 yards — and fullback John Riggins.

Baltimore Colts
Baltimore, trying to rebound from a 4-10 season, faces a tough grind. The Colts' opposition amassed a 106-85-5 record last year.

But Coach Schnellenberger feels his young team is ready to come of age. Quarterback remains a question mark. Marty Domres completed just 93 of 191 passes in an unimpressive year, and Bert Jones was even less accurate through the air.

They could always hand off to running backs Lydell Mitchell — who set a clubushing mark with 963 yards on 253 carries — and Don McCauley, but the real strength is in tight end Ray Chester or wide receivers Glenn Doughty, Cotton Speyer and first-round draft choice Roger Carr of Louisiana Tech.

The secondary, Schnellenberger admits, is one of the youngest in football and the defensive line still is building. Linebackers Stan White and Mike Curtis are strong, but in the departure of Ted Hendricks the Colts lost one of the league's best.

New England Patriots
Quarterback Jim Plunkett was forced to take matters — and the football — into his own hands too often last season. The Patriots' defense was almost nonexistent against the rush — giving up 2,850 yards — and Plunkett's line had a similar lack of success against the opposing rush.

He was sacked 37 times for 350 yards in losses, harried into 17 interceptions and was New England's fourth-leading rusher with 209 yards.

The other runners did not fare that much better. Sam Cunningham led the club with 516 yards on 155 attempts, with John Tarver second at 321 and Josh Ashton third at 305.

The receiving corps fared better. Plunkett connected with Reggie Rucker 53 times for 743 yards, Bob Windsor hauled in 23 for 348 yards and Darryl Stingley 23 for 339. Plunkett's former Stanford teammate Randy Vataha was fourth with 20 receptions for 341 yards.

And there will be no solace in the upcoming schedule for the Pats, whose opponents won 110 while losing just 80 and tying four last season.

Simpson as heavily as last year, but the Jets, Colts and Patriots are rebuilding and must be considered pretenders — at best — to the Dolphins' National Football League throne.

Miami Dolphins
No, the Dolphins have not yet made their hotel reservations for Super Bowl IX. But for sheer depth, ability and poise, the Dolphins remain the team of the decade.

Coach Shula will worry when the time comes about the losses to the World Football League of runner Larry Csonka and receiver Paul Warfield. The duo, responsible for 16 touchdowns and 1,617 yards between them, still are the major offensive threats for Miami's 1974 entry.

They aren't the only threats, though. Quarterback Bob Griese can run when necessary and threw last year for 1,422 yards by completing 116 of his 218 passes. When Warfield was drawing double and triple coverage, Marlin Briscoe and tight end Jim Mandich were easy targets.

Csonka anchored the rushing game with 1,003 yards, marking his third consecutive 1,000-plus season, while Mercury Morris — held out of the last regular season game due to an injury — compiled 954.

Add to the attack one of the game's strongest offensive lines — Dolphin quarterbacks were sacked only 13 times for 93 yards in losses and intercepted just 12 times — a topnotch defensive line, linebacking corps and defensive secondary; what do you get?

You get Miami's fourth consecutive division title. That's what.

Buffalo Bills
The Bills could come into their own this season. The defense jelled at the end of last year, and since Orenthal James Simpson scored the winning points in only two of Buffalo's nine victories, there obviously were others making contributions on offense.
Quarterback Joe Ferguson will be more than "the man who gives the ball to O.J." He'll attempt to balance the attack which depended so heavily on a certain rusher last season.

He has good receivers in J.D. Hill, Bob Chandler and Ahmad Rashad, and talented running backs Jim Braxton and Larry Watkins. The offensive line, which "turned The Juice loose" last season will return with the goal of improving Ferguson's pass protection.

Buffalo's pass rush had a creditable 32 quarterback sacks and the secondary picked off 14 passes. Should those numbers improve and the offense become more of a unit, the Bills might make things interesting.

Still, a lot will depend on Ferguson's success as a passer. Should Buffalo's air game fizzle, opposing defenses can stack against the run.

New York Jets
There are a lot of "ifs," about the New York Jets this year. If quarterback Joe Namath can stay healthy, if the pass rush improves, if the special teams can provide better field position ...

That isn't a lot to go on, but the "iffy" pass rush may well improve with the play of firstround draft choice Carl Barzilauskas — a 6-foot-6, 265-pound defensive tackle from Boston College.

Namath's brittle body will be helped by the addition of 6-foot-5, 265-pound offensive tackle Gordie Browne, New York's second draft selection, who will start the season behind Robert Woods but will beef up the pass protection when needed. Veteran Winston Hill will be the other tackle, Wayne Mulligan will center with John Schmitt having been traded to Green Bay, while Randy Rasmussen and Gary Puetz will be the guards assigned to protect Namath.

With time to pass, Namath and backup Al Woodall have talented targets in Jerome Barkum, Ed Bell, and David Knight. The backfield will be Emerson Boozer — last year's team rushing leader with 831 yards — and fullback John Riggins.

Baltimore Colt
Baltimore, trying to rebound from a 4-10 season, faces a tough grind. The Colts' opposition amassed a 106-85-5 record last year.

But Coach Schnellenberger feels his young team is ready to come of age. Quarterback remains a question mark. Marty Domres completed just 93 of 191 passes in an unimpressive year, and Bert Jones was even less accurate through the air.

They could always hand off to running backs Lydell Mitchell — who set a clubushing mark with 963 yards on 253 carries — and Don McCauley, but the real strength is in tight end Ray Chester or wide receivers Glenn Doughty, Cotton Speyer and first-round draft choice Roger Carr of Louisiana Tech.

The secondary, Schnellenberger admits, is one of the youngest in football and the defensive line still is building. Linebackers Stan White and Mike Curtis are strong, but in the departure of Ted Hendricks the Colts lost one of the league's best.

New England Patriots
Quarterback Jim Plunkett was forced to take matters — and the football — into his own hands too often last season. The Patriots' defense was almost nonexistent against the rush — giving up 2,850 yards — and Plunkett's line had a similar lack of success

In Memoriam

A memorial to McClellan Clark
One year ago today, Daddy, your Saviour took you home.
We would of kept you longer, but
Jesus bid you come.
So we will wait in calm submission,
till we meet on Heavens plain.
Where we will have a grand reunion,
And we will never part again.
Sadly missed by
Mrs. McClellan, J. Clark
and daughters,
Ellen and Phyllis.

Saviour took you home.
We would of kept you longer, but
Jesus bid you come.
So we will wait in calm submission,
Till we meet on Heavens plain,
Where we will have a grand reunion,
And we will never part again.
Sadly missed by
Mrs. McClellan Clark
and daughters,
Ellen and Phyllis.

DON'T OVERLOOK this beautifully appointed

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some will be pleased, some won't — with your decisions, plans. Be careful to consider the opinions of all before acting.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Do not make promises which you cannot fulfill, but resolve to achieve as much as is reasonably possible in the time allotted. A fine outlook for romantic interests.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You may have to revise some plans, do some extra maneuvering. Don't go too far out on a limb, however. Stability needed.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): By no means, discount the "little" things, for through these you can often attain your most worthwhile achievements. Study new trends, suggestions; be practical.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Your individual touch, the right word at the right moment could mean the difference between a so-so day and a topflight one. Many opportunities for advancement.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You are not always sure how others regard you. This could interfere with the presentation of your case or wares. A confident attitude is the answer.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): While planetary influences are not inauspicious, there are a few areas where caution will be needed. Preparation for new ventures call for especially careful consideration.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): This day calls for teamwork, perhaps some compromises but, in the long run, practical concessions will pay off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You should make fairly good headway in most endeavors, but don't go off on tangents or scatter energies. Either could offset best efforts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Branch out to some extent. Realize your limitations, however, so you won't overreach your mark. Some complexities possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Curb emotions and a tendency toward eccentricity. Tighten reins on spending, but don't scrimp unwisely and lose out in the long run.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20):

20): A splendid day for innovations and experimentation — always a pleasing challenge to the inventive Piscean. Don't hesitate to pioneer in new fields.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly endowed intellectually — skillful, clever, very shrewd. You are extremely versatile, ambitious and have a keen zest for competition. Endowed with a gift for words, you would make an outstanding writer, lecturer or teacher. You could succeed as lawyer or statesman and here your articulateness, coupled with your sharp critical faculties, would make you a feared opponent in debate, a master of disputation. You are more of a leader than many others of your Sign and may take to politics or the espousal of "causes" and movements for community improvement. Other natural outlets for your talents: science, music, architecture. Birthdate of: James Thomson, poet; William Sydney Porter (O. Henry), Amer. short story writer.

HOT — Fredricksburg, Va., softball team third baseman uses his shirt to wipe his brow during game.

American checkers and English draughts are identical, but there are other versions of this popular game. All 64 squares on the board are used in playing Turkish checkers, while in Spanish checkers all pieces move backward as well as forward.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Born Free" is a new NBC series based on the hit movie of the same name. The tube version stars Elsa the lioness and Gary Collins and Diana Muldaur as animal-lovers George and Joy Adamson.

The series was filmed entirely in Kenya and maybe it should have stayed there. But it braved the elements Monday night with a scheduled saga about poachers of elephants and other valuable wild animals. Granted, Collins, portraying a game warden, had a tough task trying to stop the baddies from killing the elephants and relieving them of their ivory bridgework.

But he should have begun by dispatching native beaters in search of a good script. The opening plot was so slender it would have been marked AWOL had it turned sideways.

It guest-starred Peter Lawford as a former Kenya farmer, who, after losing his farm to Nairobi bankers when British rule left Kenya, signed on as a locust control officer for the new government.

Like his long-time friends, the Adamsons, he's hooked on the country's wild beauty and can't bring himself to leave the place.

It takes but a few minutes of dialogue before one suspects he's a sub-chieftain in a poaching ring which goes about its mean work with airplanes, radios and natives armed with poison-tipped arrows.

When it turns out he is on the side of evil, a dismayed

George Adamson belts his friend in the chops. And, Lawford sighs, "What can I say, George? I needed money to get my farm back."

Miss Muldaur's role in the show consisted of a few off-screen lines about the cruelty of poachers. The rest of the time, she generally hung about the house, patting assorted animals. It was a waste of her time, if not that of the animals.

The scenery was magnificent, but that may not be enough to save this series from extinction. Send out those beaters now, George.

The Dog-Alert, advance warnings of wretched shows, is sounded now for the first segment of ABC's "Get Christie Love" on Wednesday night. Teresa Graves stars as a hip, high-spirited young undercover cop.

She may be television's first flouncing detective, but that is the only distinctive thing about the segment, a sorry, hack yarn about a ring of bandits who fence stolen jewelry and other valuables.

She infiltrates the ring, having first been ripped off for $250,000 of insurance money by a gang member who by this deed is ripping off his wicked boss, head of the fencing academy.

The boss figures this out and orders the hood done in. In due course he gets his, but not before stuffing Miss Graves in his plane and telling the pilot, "Head out over the mountains — we'll drop her in one of the canyons."

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some will be pleased, some won't — with your decisions, plans. Be careful to consider the opinions of all before acting.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Do not make promises which you cannot fulfill, but resolve to achieve as much as is reasonably possible in the time allotted. A fine outlook for romantic interests.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You may have to revise some plans, do some extra maneuvering. Don't go too far out on a limb, however. Stability needed.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): By no means, discount the "little" things, for through these you can often attain your most worthwhile achievements. Study new trends, suggestions; be practical.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Your individual touch, the right word at the right moment could mean the difference between a so-so day and a topflight one. Many opportunities for advancement.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You are not always sure how others regard you. This could interfere with the presentation of your case or wares. A confident attitude is the answer.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): While planetary influences are not inauspicious, there are a few areas where caution will be needed. Preparation for new ventures call for especially careful consideration.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): This day calls for teamwork, perhaps some compromises but, in the long run, practical concessions will pay off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): You should make fairly good headway in most endeavors, but don't go off on tangents or scatter energies. Either could offset best efforts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20): Branch out to some extent. Realize your limitations, however, so you won't overreach your mark. Some complexities possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Curb emotions and a tendency toward eccentricity. Tighten reins on spending, but don't scrimp unwisely and lose out in the long run.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A splendid day for innovations and experimentation — always a pleasing challenge to the inventive Piscean. Don't hesitate to pioneer in new fields.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly endowed intellectually — skillful, clever, very shrewd. You are extremely versatile, ambitious and have a keen zest for competition. Endowed with a gift for words, you would make an outstanding writer, lecturer or teacher. You could succeed as lawyer or statesman and here your articulateness, coupled with your sharp critical faculties, would make you a feared opponent in debate, a master of disputation. Julian Bond Plans Race For Presidential Nod

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Julian Bond claims that the Democratic party is in turmoil and says that if he does not win the party's presidential nomination in 1976 he hopes at least to have bargaining power to influence the naming of a standard bearer.

"I don't think you can run without being serious about it," the black politician said in an interview of his aspirations for the presidency.

However, Bond, at 34, an urbane, articulate legislator and professional lecturer, also is a political realist.

Asked what he will have accomplished if he runs for the nomination and does not win, he replied:

"If everything goes the way I would hope it goes, I would arrive at the Democratic convention in '76 with a sizeable bloc of the delegates pledged to me.

"And let's say the candidates are Jimmy Carter (Georgia's governor), Scoop Jackson, Teddy Kennedy, George Wallace. I would say to them — all of them — I have a set of principles here and they're not abstract, they're

Tropic Storm Turns East

MIAMI (AP) — Elaine, the fifth tropical storm of the season, turned east into the open Atlantic this morning and forecasters said she posed no threat to land.

Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami said that Elaine's 60-mile-per-hour winds were located early today nearly 400 miles east of the Virginia Capes.

Earlier, forecasters had warned residents of New England to be alert for advisories on the storm.

The hurricane center said Elaine was tracking northeast at about 20 m.p.h., and although it was expected to pick up forward speed, the top winds of 55 to 60 m.p.h. were not expected to strengthen through tonight.

The storm was upgraded from a tropical depression Monday evening when its sustained winds surpassed 39 m.p.h. as it lay some 250 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras.

Charges Dropped In Bike Theft

NEW YORK (AP) — Charges of robbery, grand larceny and possession of stolen property against a 20-year-old New York man accused of stealing a bike from John F. Kennedy Jr. have been dismissed.

For the fourth time, the son of the late President John F. Kennedy failed to show up in court to testify against Robert Lopez. Lopez was charged with stealing young Kennedy's bicycle in Central Park last May 14.

Judge Robert Haft on Monday dismissed the charges against Lopez over the protests of Manhattan Dist. Atty. Richard H. Kuh. Kuh complained that the "Kennedy-Onassis family has been thousands and thousands of miles away" while authorities tried to bring the case to trial.

in possible violation of federal regulations, said Frank Silbey, an investigator on the staff of Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif.

He noted that the Civil Service Commission has found evidence of such practices at the General Services Administration and the Social and Rehabilitation Service.

The commission has investigated similar allegations at the Department very real and very concrete.

"And if you want these delegates, you must agree to this set of principles and whichever one of you does can have these votes."

He defined the principles as the same 30-odd proposals the black congressional caucus made to President Nixon in 1971.

Bond said he would want a pledge that the candidate would work for higher black education, "do certain things in foreign policy toward black Africa and insure that the war on poverty not only continues but is strengthened...."

He said blacks have had no consistent way to exert pressure on the national party apparatus.

Claim Nixon Hampered Urban Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — National urban policy organizations feel the Nixon administration seriously hampered their efforts to resolve urban problems, a recent study revealed.

Some 100 national urban policy organizations surveyed in the study said their programs were set back during the Nixon era by inflation, funding slashes, inactivity of the Domestic Council, federal judicial conservatism and lack of apparent commitment to minority causes.

As a result, the study said, the organizations tend to refer to the pre-Nixon years of the 1960s "in a 'good old days' rhetoric."

The study also disclosed that national urban policy organizations have a poor "public image" and that their actions have little effect on policy below the national level.

The study recommended that the organizations improve their methods for evaluating their impact on urban policy and expand their cooperative efforts.

The study, conducted by the Center for Responsive Technology, was presented Monday by its executive director, Willis Goldbeck, at a two-day conference on urban problems sponsored by the Academy for Contemporary Problems and the Kettering Foundation.

The conference drew urban leaders from about 45 groups, including the Urban League, National Center for Urban Ethnic Affairs, National Governors Conference and Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The conference is the first in a series of programs the Academy for Contemporary Problems and the Kettering Foundation have planned to assist Congress, federal agencies, states and cities clarify their thinking about programs and policies for urban areas.

of Housing and Urban Development, the State Department, the Small Business Administration and several other agencies, but has refused to disclose the findings, Silbey said.

"We have a wholesale pattern which seems to have emerged, a very ominous pattern" of patronage appointments throughout government, he said.

Moss has asked Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe for a Justice Department review of "the activities uncovered (at the Social and Rehabilitation Service) with a view to bringing possible criminal charges."

Silbey said Moss has received no Justice Department response. Department officials could not determine the status of the request on Monday.

Silbey said "inside sources" at LEAA have complained of similar patronage improprieties within the crime-fighting agency, which spends nearly $1 billion a year for research and state and local anticrime projects. Silbey declined to identify his sources.

The allegations prompted Moss to request investigations by the General Accounting Office and the Civil Service Commission.

Meantime, the Justice Department began investigating the allegations Monday at the request of the new LEAA administrator, Richard W. Velde.

Investigators are examining whether regulations designed to give career workers a fair chance at promotions were bypassed in order to fill top-level jobs with outsiders chosen for political reasons, said O.T. Berkman Jr., a Justice Department official familiar with the probe, and other officials.

Gen Tel Plans Cable Addition

Construction is under way of a major cable addition for growth in the southern area of the Circleville exchange according to General Telephone Co. of Ohio.

William D. Anderson, Circleville customer service manager, said the $24,600 cable addition will provide basic service for new customers. Upgraded service will be limited in keeping with curtailments announced July 24 by the company.

Where possible the new cable will be buried. Portions of the new cable will replace existing facilities for maintenance reasons.

The Circleville exchange serves 12,018 telephones in a 187.4 square mile-area of Pickaway and Fairfield counties.

The Laurelville Firefighters attended three different classes at the all day school.

Mailgrams Travel Via Satellite

Moving the mail, accomplished over the years by means ranging from bicycle to jumbo jet, entered an historic new age September 5 when Mailgram messages traveled via satellite from New York to Los Angeles.

The operation, sponsored jointly by the U.S. Postal Service and Western Union, marks the first use of a satellite to transport U.S. Mail.

The Postal Service and Western Union have provided the unique Mailgram service since 1970, using teleprinter terminals in 119 key postal installations. The Columbus Post Office, Mailgram Terminal, receives and re-dispatches messages for 61 counties in Central Ohio. An average of 1,200 Mailgram messages are received daily.

A Mailgram message, similar in format to a Telegram, is inserted in a Mailgram envelope bearing a blue banner on the face of the window style envelope for delivery the next business day by regular carriers in the continental United States.

Mailgram messages are initiated by Western Union. The sender may secure a certified delivery receipt for an additional fee. The Postal Service receives a fee for providing prompt delivery.

Mailgram messages from New York to Los Angeles will be sent via the Westar system late this month. Regular Mailgram traffic from the East Coast to Texas and other parts of the West Coast via satellite is planned for the end of 1974.

The coast-to-coast transmission will be beamed from an earth station at Glenwood, N. H., to Western Union's Westar I satellite, orbiting 22,300 miles above the Equator. The satellite will relay the transmission back to a second station at Steele Valley, Calif.

In all, the Mailgram message will travel some 47,000 miles at the speed of light on its historic journey.

Westar I, America's first domestic communications satellite, was launched April 13, 1974, by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Since the inception of Mailgram service in 1970, volume has risen dramatically, from 390,000 total messages in that initial year to an estimated 20 million messages in 1974.

Navy Offers Skill Bonus

The U.S. Navy has implemented a cash bonus plan for new recruits who volunteer for, and can qualify in, certain undermanned ratings.

The amount of the bonus varies from $1,000 to $2,000 depending on the rating and the Navy's needs at the time a recruit enlists.

Although the Navy continues to recruit personnel into all of its 70 ratings, only those recruits going into the specified "Critical" ratings are eligible for the bonus.

The plan went into effect on Sept. 1, and the first list of eligible ratings includes eight communications and technical weaponry fields.

Some 100 national urban policy organizations surveyed in the study said their programs were set back during the Nixon era by inflation, funding slashes, inactivity of the Domestic Council, federal judicial conservatism and lack of apparent commitment to minority causes.

As a result, the study said, the organizations tend to refer to the pre-Nixon years of the 1960s "in a 'good old days' rhetoric."

The study also disclosed that national urban policy organizations have a poor "public image" and that their actions have little effect on policy below the national level.

The study recommended that the organizations improve their methods for evaluating their impact on urban policy and expand their cooperative efforts.

The study, conducted by the Center for Responsive Technology, was presented Monday by its executive director, Willis Goldbeck, at a two-day conference on urban problems sponsored by the Academy for Contemporary Problems and the Kettering Foundation.

The conference drew urban leaders from about 45 groups, including the Urban League, National Center for Urban Ethnic Affairs, National Governors Conference and Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The conference is the first in a series of programs the Academy for Contemporary Problems and the Kettering Foundation have planned to assist Congress, federal agencies, states and cities clarify their thinking about programs and policies for urban areas.

of Housing and Urban Development, the State Department, the Small Business Administration and several other agencies, but has refused to disclose the findings, Silbey said.

"We have a wholesale pattern which seems to have emerged, a very ominous pattern" of patronage appointments throughout government, he said.

Moss has asked Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe for a Justice Department review of "the activities uncovered (at the Social and Rehabilitation Service) with a view to bringing possible criminal charges."

Silbey said Moss has received no Justice Department response. Department officials could not determine the status of the request on Monday.

Silbey said "inside sources" at LEAA have complained of similar patronage improprieties within the crime-fighting agency, which spends nearly $1 billion a year for research and state and local anticrime projects. Silbey declined to identify his sources.

The allegations prompted Moss to request investigations by the General Accounting Office and the Civil Service Commission.

Meantime, the Justice Department began investigating the allegations Monday at the request of the new LEAA administrator, Richard W. Velde.

Investigators are examining whether regulations designed to give career workers a fair chance at promotions were bypassed in order to fill top-level jobs with outsiders chosen for political reasons, said O.T. Berkman Jr., a Justice Department official familiar with the probe, and other officials.

Mailgrams Travel Via Satellite

Moving the mail, accomplished over the years by means ranging from bicycle to jumbo jet, entered an historic new age September 5 when Mailgram messages traveled via satellite from New York to Los Angeles.

The operation, sponsored jointly by the U.S. Postal Service and Western Union, marks the first use of a satellite to transport U.S. Mail.

The Postal Service and Western Union have provided the unique Mailgram service since 1970, using teleprinter terminals in 119 key postal installations. The Columbus Post Office, Mailgram Terminal, receives and re-dispatches messages for 61 counties in Central Ohio. An average of 1,200 Mailgram messages are received daily.

A Mailgram message, similar in format to a Telegram, is inserted in a Mailgram envelope bearing a blue banner on the face of the window style envelope for delivery the next business day by regular carriers in the continental United States.

Mailgram messages are initiated by Western Union. The sender may secure a certified delivery receipt for an additional fee. The Postal Service receives a fee for providing prompt delivery.

Mailgram messages from New York to Los Angeles will be sent via the Westar system late this month. Regular Mailgram traffic from the East Coast to Texas and other parts of the West Coast via satellite is planned for the end of 1974.

The coast-to-coast transmission will be beamed from an earth station at Glenwood, N. H., to Western Union's Westar I satellite, orbiting 22,300 miles above the Equator. The satellite will relay the transmission back to a second station at Steele Valley, Calif.

In all, the Mailgram message will travel some 47,000 miles at the speed of light on its historic journey.

Westar I, America's first domestic communications satellite, was launched April 13, 1974, by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Since the inception of Mailgram service in 1970, volume has risen dramatically, from 390,000 total messages in that initial year to an estimated 20 million messages in 1974.

Navy Offers Skill Bonus

The U.S. Navy has implemented a cash bonus plan for new recruits who volunteer for, and can qualify in, certain undermanned ratings.

The amount of the bonus varies from $1,000 to $2,000 depending on the rating and the Navy's needs at the time a recruit enlists.

Although the Navy continues to recruit personnel into all of its 70 ratings, only those recruits going into the specified "Critical" ratings are eligible for the bonus.

The plan went into effect on Sept. 1, and the first list of eligible ratings includes eight communications and technical weaponry fields.
